Body Of Only One Inmate identified; Rest Charred Beyond Recognition

By Associated Press

Chicago—Seventeen persons were killed Wednesday night when a swiftly spreading fire of unascertained origin destroyed an old wooden pavilion known as the "death house" at the state hospital for the insane at Dunning, at the northwestern edge of Chicago. Fourteen of the dead are known to have been patients in various stages of insanity. Three others were E. J. Caraker and his wife, attendants, and Lowell, their 8-year-old son.

Only one patient has been identified. The bodies of the others were burned beyond recognition. About 35 of the patients, including several of a violent type, broke away in the excitement of herding more than 500 inmates from the danger zone. Several were taken back to the institution after hand struggles with the police.

A dozen supposedly dangerous patients were reported still at large early Thursday.

It was one of the worst institutional fires in Illinois' history. The building, witnesses said, seemed to go up in one great burst of flame. It was given the name "death house" when it was the property of Cook co. because of its flimsy construction, it is said. It housed approximately 600 patients suffering with the milder forms of insanity.

PATIENT GIVES ALARM

A number of the patients were epileptics usually in full control of their faculties and they aided in rescuing the helpless after one of their number, first to see the flames, had given the alarm.

The institution houses aproximately 3,000 patients and the shriek of the fire alarm siren threw them into a frenzy. Attendants battled to drive them back from doors and windows and to quet them while the flames consumed the wooden structure. The cries of the charges led past the buildings housing the more dangerous patients excited them all the more, and for an hour the scene was truly one of bedlam.

More than a dozen Chicago fire department companies responded to a general alarm, but the apparatus was stalled in the mud of the institution grounds and it was with great difficulty that the fire was fought. Bed ticking, blankets and clothing were laid in the mud to provide traction for the fire trucks and some literally were brought up by man power.

FIREMAN FINDS BODY

It was thought at first that all persons had been taken out alive from the burned building, and it was only when firemen began exploring the smouldering ruins that the first body was found.

Some of the patients broke from the lines being herded to safety and dashed back into the flames to obtain Christmas presents and other possessions, but it was thought all again had been brought out. Three patients locked themselves in a closet and were saved by policemen. There were a number of other rescues by the police, attendants and inmates suffering with the milder degrees of insanity.

Blame for the deaths in the flimsy building will be fixed by a joint investigation of five official agencies working with Oscar Wolff, Cook co coroner.

The institution recently had been crowded beyond its limits by an influx of patients from the county psychopathic hospital and from other county institutions.

The Dunning asylum has had, including that of Wednesday night, eight fires since March, 1910, but none of the others were of any serious consequence

FORMER LEADER SLAPS KU KLUX

Letter To Coolidge Offers Aid In Ending Activities Of Undesirables

Washington, D. C.—E. Y. Clarke, formerly high in the councils of the Ku Klux Klan, wrote President Coolidge Thursday offering to cooperate with the executive in ending the activities of "an element" which is converting the Klan into organization vastly different than planned by its founders.

Clarke also announced his intentions of issueing a proclamation to Klansmen "calling the better element" either to take hold and "remedy the exisiting evils" or to disband the organization.

The president was told by Clarke that there had been "a steady withdrawal" from the Klan itself or from participation in its active operating control and that he had "voluntarily severed his active official connection" with the organization more than a year ago.

Various charges were made in the letter against the activities of the organization in disregard to the "high ideals, principles and purposes" for which it was formed, and these activities. Clarke characterized as a "keen disappointment to me."

POET ADOPTS RUSE TO TRY POSTERITY

Vienna — Arthur Brehmer, poet, took unusual means to find out what posterity would think of his work. A notice of the death of the 65-year old writer appeared in the local papers together with sketches of his life and criticisms of his work. A few days later it was learned that Brehmer was alive and well and much interested in the comments which the press had made about his literary efforts. He admitted preparing the notices of his own death and said it was much more gratifying to writers to have appreciation while they lived.

SHOOTS WIFE AND SELF IN JEALOUS FIT

Wounded Woman In Serious Condition; Wounds May Be Fatal

By Associated Press

Superior—Following a quarrel over a telephone call, Ross Bankes, 30, shot and probably fatally wounded his wife, Mildred, 29, and then killed himself at 7 P. M. Wednesday night. Mrs. Bankes is in a grave condition at St. Marys hospital. The shooting took place at the Bankes home, 1465 Johnave.

The shooting was witnessed by Basil, 8-year-old son of the couple. The three were eating dinner, the boy told the police when his mother received a phone call. Returning to the table, Mr. Bankes asked her who had called. He received an evasive answer. A few minutes later, the boy continued, there was a second phone call which Mr. Bankes answered. Becoming angry when he received no reply from his wife, the husband attempted to strike Mrs. Bankes with a chair, the boy continued. When she begged him not to hit her Bankes drew a revolver from his pocket.

FIRES TWO SHOTS

As Mrs. Bankes ran from the room, Mr. Bankes fired, the bullet striking her in the abdomen. She continued to run, going into the front room where the boy was standing. Bankes, coming through the bedroom, shot her again over the heart. She grasped her son in her arms and fell. He then walked into the bedroom and shot himself through the heart.

Terrified, the child ran from the house to the home of his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Jane Vanderport, who called the police.

The couple had been engaged in marital troubles for some time, police learned.

N. J. Stantorf cousin of Mrs. Bankes and who rooms at the Bankes home, told newspaper men Wednesday night that it was he who had called Mrs. Bankes at about 6:30. Stantorf stated that Bankes, who returned last week from Milwaukee where he had been visiting a sister had several times since his return threatened Mrs. Bankes.

WOOD VETOES BILL FOR RELIEF FUNDS

Governor General Of Philippines Says Measure Violates Jones Law

By Associated Press

Manila—Governor General Wood Thursday vetoed a bill passed by the legislature, providing for an appropriation of $50,000 for extending relief, in cases of urgent necessity for persons who are destitute or afflicted as the result of calamities.

The bill is identical with a measure vetoed nearly a year ago.

The governor general pointed out in affixing his veto to the bill that under its provisions the secretary of the interior would have discretionary control over the expenditure of the fund. This provision the governor general considers contrary to the Jones law (the organic act of the islands) which gives to the governor general supervision and control over all executive departments of the insular government.

It is understood that the bill will be brought up in the legislature, again in the hope of obtaining its passage over the governor general's veto, after which it will be sent to President Coolidge for his approval or veto.

Russia Must Prove Good Faith To Win Recognition Of U.S.

Soviets Offer To Acknowledge Debt To America But Demand Unjustified Payment For Occupation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1923 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Diplomatic relations between the United States government and the Soviet government of Russia are far from being resumed.

The controversy which has been going on with reference to the authenticity of the documents urging the followers of the Third Internationale to arise and put "the red flag on the White House" is only a part of the problem. The fact that the Russians seem so exercised over Secretary Hughes' disclosures is interesting enough, but officials do not observe the Soviets disavowing the Third Internationale or denouncing the doctrines which have been the basis of Soviet propaganda in the United States.

Judging by the comments which the episode has brought out, the public has missed one point that has not failed to arouse indignation in inner circles here. It relates to the Russian offer to recognize certain debts due America since the Czar's regime. On its face the suggestion seemed as if the Russians were beginning to meet the American government half way, but coupled with their offer is a demand that the United States reciprocate by paying damages for the occupation of Russian territory both in Siberia and in the Archangel region. The Russians have been figuring it out that for American consumption they would recognize the war debt but would turn around and in the same offer demand enough for the occupation of Russian territory to offset the amount of that debt and in effect cancel the bill.

What the United States in company with the allies attempted to do in the various Russian expeditions was to open up approaches to the territory of Germany and to maintain a blockade against Germany from all sides. Whatever was done by the United States was incident to the prosecution of the war against Germany. There never was a declaration of war against Russian people. Coming on top of the American effort to save the Russian people from starvation and other evidences of American friendship, it can be stated without exaggeration that the last Russian proposal to charge the United States for occupying Russian territory during the war is considered one of the most ungrateful acts in the history of international relations.

The word battle over the documents of the Third Internationale is about over so far as the United States is concerned. Words are interesting only as they are an index of policy or action. If the Russians do not believe in the distribution of propaganda among American workmen, urging them to overthrow the government here, they can give testimony of their good faith by squelching the activities of Russians in America who receive their funds as well as their encouragement from Moscow. If the Soviet government wishes to enter into diplomatic relations with the United States government certain acts will prove the eligibility of Russia to be accepted in the family of nations once more. Objections are not raised so much as to the kind of government the Russians have—that is an internal affair but the United States considers it very much a matter of international jurisdiction if one nation stands back of propaganda which has for its object the overthrow of the government of another nation.

Merchants Sell Papers To Help Needy Newsies

By Associated Press

New Orleans—Copies of the first edition of the New Orleans Item sold Thursday for anywhere from 3 cents to $5 each. It wasn't due to any startling "scoop" in the paper but because city officials, professional and businessmen, who, in their kid days sold papers on the streets took the places of the newsies and forced Orleanians to buy papers and shell out for the Item newsboys' sick and benefit fund and band.

HUERTA FORCE FLEES TO VERA CRUZ, IS RUMOR

Reports Of Factions Are Conflicting; Federals Claim Important Gain

By Associated Press

Juarez, Mexico — Conflicting statements of the rebellious movements in Mexico continue to be given out by border representatives of the factions of President Obregon and Adolfo De La Huerta, although little definite information is available in the advices received here.

While the revolutionists declared that their troops have been concentrated for a new drive toward Mexico City from Vera Cruz, consular reports stated that irregulars under General Romula Figuroa had been driven from the state of Morelos and forced to flee to Vera Cruz.

Part of the rebel army under General Enrique Estrada was expelled from Tanacula with severe losses by 2,000 federals led by General Lazaro Carenes Wednesday, according to government advices reaching Nogales, Ariz. Two hundred prisoners were captured by the victorious forces, who are pursuing the routed rebels toward Guadalajara, said the advices, which added that there were many casualties.

Operations against General Estrada are under way in Jalisco and that entire section is controlled by the federal government, except territory occupied by Estrada and General Sanchez, according to the federals. The President Obregon's avenue of escape revolutionists, however, declared that toward Vera Cruz is closed and that he is trying to break through the Guadalajara line by attacking the Estradistas.

ADMIT LOSS OF BLIMP BUT SEE HOPE FOR CREW

Considered Certain Dixmude Crashed In Algeria During Heavy Gale

By Associated Press

Paris—The loss of the dirigible Dixmude is now reluctantly admitted, although hope for the safety of her crew of 50 officers and men has not yet been relinquished. Officials who feel the great airship's personnel is still alive recall that nothing was heard of the crew of the Goliath, which broke down in Mauritania in August, 1919, until a week after the accident, when all hope had been given up.

It is considered certain that the Dixmude fell on the desert somewhere between Biskra and Toggourt, southern Algeria, during the gale that prevented her from crossing the Gulf of Gabes, and returning to France. The ship, says Le Matin, was not warned of this gale by the weather bureau, in fact, adds the newspaper, no one told the bureau of her voyage. Inasmuch as no message whatsoever has been received from the Dixmude since early on the morning of Dec. 21, it is inferred here that her fall must have been violent, wrecking her wireless apparatus. Even assuming such a crash, it does not necessarily follow that the ship's crew perished, for the Dixmude was well provided with parachutes and some of her men, it is pointed out, must have escaped. These could have obtained food and water from the wreckage.

Search for the dirigible off the coast of Tunis, Tripoli and Malta has proved fruitless, but the navy is continuing its efforts.

The ministry of marine announced that the Dixmude had not been heard from or seen since 8 P. M. on Dec. 21. She gave her position as approximately 60 miles north of Touggourt, or about 90 miles south of Biskra, heading for Algiers, on the Mediterranean by way of Bu Saada and Aumale, on the north side of the Atlas mountains. Her speed was given as 70 kilometers an hour and she asked for a weather report in the vicinity of the Atlas range.

The ministry announcement adds that the Dixmude was instructed not to attempt to make for France across the Mediterrean where a gale was blowing.

Police Capture Youth Shortly After Shooting

Escapes

Prince Hirohito, regent of Japan, narrowly escaped death at the hands of an assassin who fired on him with a cane gun while the prince was on his way to the diet.

Feeling Runs High In Tokio After Hirohito's Fortunate Escape

THING MURDERER IS MAD

Suspect Korean Plot; Regent Surrounded By Guards To Forestall Attack

By Associated Press

Tokio—A youth dressed as a laborer was arrested by police Thursday shortly after he had fired at Prince Regent Hirohito in an attempted assassination. The youth is 20 years old. Police believe he is insane.

The shooting has aroused intense excitement and feeling is running high throughout the city.

The attack occurred while the prince regent was on his way to a session of the diet. The assailant used a "cane gun" in firing at the automobile. The windows of the machine were smashed and the bullet narrowly missed the head of the prince regent. He continued on his way to the meeting of the diet, but took refuge in the upper house of the diet, composed of peers. Later he convened the diet in ordinary session, with customary ceremonies, after which he returned to the imperial palace under heavy guard.

Authorities are conducting a rigid investigation of the attempt on the prince regent's life. They are of the opinion that others may be implicated in a plot to assassinate Hirohito.

Viscount Tamanori Irye, member of the house of peers and chief chamberlain to the prince regent, who was accompanying him in the automobile, was slightly injured when he was cut by a fragment of broken glass.

PRINCE RETAINS CALM

When Hirohito appeared in the upper house of the diet, there was no indication apparent that anything had occurred. The prince regent read a speech to the members of the house in a calm voice, and then retired.

Visitors at the session were not allowed to leave the building until the regent had departed on his way back to the imperial palace. None of those present at the session which he addressed were aware of the shooting and when news of the attempted assassination became known they expressed the highest admiration for the manner in which he had conducted himself.

Another youth, who was with the assailant of the prince regent Thursday morning was arrested later.

Following the attack, it was learned that the prince regent has been under heavy guard recently owing to rumors which have been in circulation here that Koreans were conspiring to assassinate him.

Owing to the almost unprecedented feeling which is running high here, police have threatened to suppress newspapers publishing news of the incident until an official statement has been issued.

SOCIALIST MINISTER QUITS

Home Minister Goto has resigned assuming responsibility as home minister for the attempted assassination of Prince Regent Hirohito by a 20-year-old youth under arrest. It is understood here. Baron Goto's home and all Socialist centers are being closely guarded owing to fear of anti-Socialist outbreaks.

FREAR MAY ASK PROBE OF WOOD WALL-ST DEALS

Secretary Weeks Disapproves Of Speculation Beyond Means Of Officers

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The stock market operations of Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood served Thursday to bring out a general statement of the attitude taken by Secretary Weeks toward the investments of army officers.

Mr. Weeks holds that officers should be required to avoid speculative enterprises on a scale that would mark the transactions as "imprudent." In view of the means of the officers concerned. It was in line with the belief that the suggestion was conveyed to Lieutenant Wood four months ago, that his speculative ventures in Wall Street should be terminated.

Lieutenant Wood's operations practically ceased at that time, it was said Thursday at the war department his subsequent transactions being in connection with the closing out of the operations in which he already was engaged.

A congressional investigation into Lieutenant Wood's operations probably will be asked for by Representative Frear, Republican of Wisconsin, who has a resolution pending for a general inquiry into the administration of Governor General Wood in the Philippines. Representative Frear said Thursday he considered that his resolution if favorably acted upon would permit the investigation committee to go into such cases as that of Lieutenant Wood.

JOHNSON COMING INTO WISCONSIN TO WIN DELEGATES

California Senator Hopeful Of Garnering a Few Convention Votes

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington— Hiram Johnson is ready to cast his sombrero into the Wisconsin ring Johnson boosters will ply the state from Douglas county across to Kenosha and from Florence county to Grant.

This decision, it was learned today, has been reached by the Johnson managers. Frank M. Hitchcock, formerly of Kenosha, generalissimo of the Johnson forces, will direct the Badgerland fight. Announcement of the Johnson plans await only the lining up of some particularly desirable lieutenants in Wisconsin.

Johnson's battle will be pitched against LaFollette. The Johnson leaders because of LaFollette will have to conduct a different kind of campaign in Wisconsin to that they are planning for other states, where their strategy will be to win the undecided Republican voter against Coolidge.

And while the Johnson campaign in a national sense is a campaign against Coolidge to have any chance of success in Wisconsin he must win the votes of the Bobites. So the appeal of Hi and his followers will be to the LaFollette men.

Johnson spokesmen will point out that Bob has absolutely no chance for the nomination, that a vote for LaFollette is a half vote for Coolidge On the other hand they will try to prove that Johnson has a real chance for the nomination.

The Californian will be painted as the soul of western progress. The President will be painted as the epitome of New England reactionaryism. Hiram will be heralded as the one man who has a chance to floor Coolidge in the convention. The Johnson men believe that they will come out of the Badger state with some district delegates and maybe a delegate or so at large.

Meanwhile the Democrats will cross into the Badger state shortly after the crying away of the revelry with which the New Year is greeted. Both McAdoo and Underwood will enter the Wisconsin Democratic primary and their respecive tongs are ready for a fight to the death.

Both Underwood and McAdoo have been angling in Wisconsin for some time. Lieutenants for each in a number of counties have been decided. The McAdoo-Underwood embroglio promises to be a strictly wet and dry proposition, with Underwood having the wets and McAdoo the drys.

The question of how Wisconsin is to get 29 delegates in the next Republican National convention is yet undecided. The only one solution suggested is that if only four delegates at large are voted on in the primary the convention seat these four delegates authorize them to cast seven votes. As a percent it is pointed out that Texas elected eight delegates at large to the last Democratic National Covention and as the state was only entitled to four votes at large, each delegate was given a half a vote.

Women Scoff At 'Official' Length For Their Skirts

The ladies are in revolt. And the revolt is against CLOTHES. Oh, yes, they are buying just as many and perhaps more, but the revolt is against DAME FASHION. Oh, you say if you are a man, and of course men always read about the fashions when their wives are not looking) "So the women have at least come to their senses and are wearing their clothes until they wear out regardless of style."

If you think that you are thinking too much for your own good. The revolt is just another phase of this new freedom for women of which you do not approve. The women have said and are living up to it that they do not like long skirts and that if Dame Fashion wants hers long, let her have them that way.

As a result of the revolt, there is no correct length for dresses, formal or informal, business or sport. The length hovers somewhere between just below the knee and just below the ankle, depending on the caprice of the wearer. If she likes 'em long, she wears 'em long and if short is her choice, short they are. Then, too, if she has some that were very short that have been made as long as the hems will allow then she wears those short. If she should run short of goods in making new ones, she makes them short. In fact, she wears her clothes just the way she happens to want to, one day long and one day short, and the third day, somewhere between ankle length and knee height.

The fashion writers would have you think that the official height is between seven and nine inches from the floor. This is as official as anything can be during the revolt.

Dame Fashion will make an attempt in the spring according to the buyers who keep in touch with conditions in the East to sign a truce by making the sport clothes shorter. It will be just like the women, however, to decide then that they prefer to have them long, so you never can tell.

GAS IS SMALL ITEM IN MOTORING COST

Depreciation And Repairs Much More Expensive Than Gasoline

Here's a problem for psychologists Every time the motorist buys gasoline to run his car, he incurs an additional expense between four and five times that of the gasoline for the time that fuel is used.

Yet, when the price of gass is raised —there's a howl.

A year's study of the various expenses entering into the total cost of operating an automobile has been completed by the Empire companies whose headquarters are at Bartlesville, Okla. A fleet of from 500 to 600 passenger cars and truck are operated by these companies in the mid-continent oil and gas fields.

E. L. Peck, superintendent of auto equipment, finds that the average these cars, was approximately 10 cents a mile. Of this only 1.8 cents a mile was paid for gasoline, and .3 of a cent a mile for oil and other lubricants.

That means a cost of 7.9 cents a mile for operation, maintenance and depreciation of the automobile.

Labor for repairing the cars amounted to 1.9 cents, while 3. 2 cents went for repair material, including tires. The item of depreciation, which is often forgotten in figuring mileage cost, amounted to 2.8 cents a mile. This depreciation charge, accumulated over the life of the car, added to the amount received when the car is sold, could be used to purchase a new car, Peck figures.

For Safety, Invest in a Safe Business

Around each year's end thousands of Wisconsin men and women collect money from investments that have matured and been paid off, and are looking for new places to invest it. Judged by its record and by its certain large future growth, no other business offers more safety for invested capital than the State-appraised and State-regulated electric service industry in Wisconsin. It is a BASIC industry. It serves all other industries. It supplies indispensable services to the whole public. It is PERMANENT. It is growing faster than any other large industry.

Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. has a good many large investors — among them several of the richest, most successful and conservative business men in Wisconsin. The Company has more small investors than any other business in Wisconsin. And NOT ONE OF THEM IS DISSATISFIED WITH THE INVESTMENT. For the last twenty-four years Milwaukee Electric's preferred shareholders have got cash dividends in full every three months. For the last twenty-one years Milwaukee Electric's common shareholders, who operate the business and bear its income risks, have got cash dividends averaging 8% yearly. During its twenty-seven years in business, the Company has paid every obligation on the due date, in full. It is today growing faster than ever before, and is recognized throughout the country as one of the best built, best managed electric service properties in the United States.

We believe Milwaukee Electric's 7% cumulative preferred shares, now on sale through its own offices and those of its associated Wisconsin utilities, offer investors the safety of a good bond with the higher earning power of a first class stock.

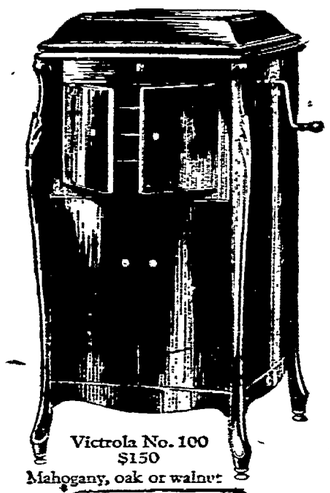

This advertisement is an invitation to men and women looking for an investment to come in and discuss the subject with us. Or we shall be glad to send a salesman or a circular, with full details. The price of the shares is $100 each, payable all cash, or $5 down and $5 a month. Bought either way, buyers get 7% on every dollar invested, from the start. Mail orders are filled by registered letter.

LAST OF OSHKOSH BANK HOLDUP GANG CAUGHT BY POLICE

One Killed, One Jailed At Minneapolis On English Murder Warrant

By Associated Press

Oshkosh—The last two of the notorious quintet who robbed the former Exchange bank on South Main street here on Sept. 24, 1920, have been brought to justice.

Three of the bandits in that daring episode are doing time at Waupun for the deed. Minneapolis police informed Chief of Police Gabbert that the other two have been bagged, one killed and the other about to be handed over to British authorities to face trial for several murders, including that of a woman at London.

Their apprehension makes another chapter in the gripping story of as noted a band of bank robbers, gunmen and thugs as is recorded in police annuals of the midwest.

ON THE SCREEN

THUNDERGATE TOUCHES NEW SCREEN HEIGHTS

The screen drama reaches new heights in "Thundergate," an exciting, dramatic photoplay, laid in the colorful atmosphere of the Orient, which opened today at the Elite theatre for a 3 days engagement.

This play, based on Sidney Herschel Small's popular novel, "The Lord of Thundergate," is a First National picture and deals in a romantic and dramatic way with the adventures of an American in China, who bears the resemblance to a mandarin and through strange circumstances is forced to masquerade as the Chinese.

Replete with rapid fire incidents, tensely dramatic and exciting, the play contains all the essentials that go toward making a worthwhile screen drama. Laid in the colorful atmosphere of the orient, with the magnificence of Chinese temples and palaces as a background, "Thundergate" offers a wonderful opportunity to a brilliant cast of players to present a story entirely different in type from any story ever told on the screen.

In the character of Robert Wells, an American engineer in China, Owen Moore falls afoul of plotters who seek to hinder the construction of bridges and roads by an American construction firm. Compelled to take the guise of a Chinese lord he is confronted with a "slave wife," the inheritance of the real lord.

He finds that the girl is white and then a conflict begins to free the girl from her predicament and at the same time defeat those who are plotting to hamper the work being done by the company he represents.

The actinon of the play is featured by a series of thrilling incidents, including a vivid hand to hand fight in a Chinese inn between caucasians and orientals, which for realism surpasses anything of its kind that has been seen on the screen here for a long time.

In the double role of Robert Wells and the Chinese lord, Owen Moore is seen in a character essentially different from anything that he has ever done before. He handles the dual role excellently and proves that he is but one of the few actors of the screen that is at home in a dramatic part as well as in comedy, a type for which he is perhaps better known.

WEST AS IT EXISTS SHOWN IN FILMS

Many surprises are awaiting those who see "Where Men are Men," which will be shown at The New Bijou theater Friday and Saturday. The story deals with the Death Valley gold mining region of California and William Duncan, star-director, has prepared to show the public a picture of the locale as it is. He has put a ban on the horse drawn stagecoach, the band man firing guns and one other antiquated stunts found in films of the Buffalo Bill type.

Instead Mr. Duncan presents a clean story of the West, showing real mining camps and settlements. The action is swift moving against picturesque backgrounds and the climax comes in a real fist fight between Duncan and Sailor Tom Wilson, formerly sparring partner of Bob Fitzsimmons. This is a real combat and different from the ordinary screen conflict. Both men fight to win and it is only Duncan's superiority that saves the day for the hero.

Bobbed Hair Proper For Daylight But Is Passe For Nights, Fashion Says

Young Women Prefer Comfort Of Shorn Hair To Following Fashion's Dictates That "Bobs" Must Go

Bobbed hair may be all right for the daytime, but you're simply "not in it" if you wear bobs in the evening. Yes, bobbed hair can easily be done up with the aid of extra hair, and fashion has decreed that so must it be worn for evening. The very first thing to be learned about hairdressing is that one must never, never say false hair. It simply isn't done. Women wear extra hair these days and are not ashamed of it, either, for few of our modern women have the ambition to have such long tresses that they are able to "sit on their hair," as was the custom in the days of our grandmothers.)

What is called a straight bob, (hair parted on the side and held back with a barrett) is the way most of the girls are wearing their hair these days, and it is not considered a good policy to have the hair cut very short for then it is hard to dress it for evening. The newest way to dress short hair for a formal affair in the evening is to use the swirl, which is a strand of hair made so that it may easily be wrapped in coronet fashion around the head. The bobbed hair then is curled tightly to the head and combed upwards, which still gives it the appearance of a bob, and yet it is "done up."

"BOB" PASSING OUT

Mrs. Mabel Dunn, of the Comfort Shop at Pettibone-Peabody Company, said that although many girl's still are bobbing their hair, advance styles say that bobs are completely out of style, yet they show various ways of doing up the shortened locks. There are any number of "extra pieces" a girl can buy these days that transform the shorn head into what appears to be a head of hair that is marvelous in thickness and length. Then too, Mrs. Dunn went on to say, it is so much more convenient to wear bobbed hair, and many are keeping their heads clipped despite fashion's latest whim. She especially advocated marcelling as the most fashionable trend in hair dressing.

It must be clearly understood, it was said at the Marinello Beauty Shop, that although bobbed hair is certainly the thing for daytime, it is not correct to "wear it bobbed" in the evening. There are innumerable methods of doing up bobbed hair, and most every way shows it marcelled. There is not a new hairdress shown in advance styles that does not feature the marcelle wave. Few girls care to sleep on curlers or rags these days, and a much more beautiful wave can be secured through the marcelling process.

WHAT A CHANGE!

How different is the marcelle from the waves and "crimps" of our grandmothers days. It was at one of the shops that the r... why so many older women and men object bobbed hair is because in olden days women whose moral standards were not the best wore their hair loosely about the face, while that of a woman considered a lady was brushed smooth and carefully pinned back. Few women wore "extra hair" in those days, either, for then a women's pride was her so-called "crowning glory," which is usually more of a nuisance than glory, nowadays, especially to modern business women.

At the Ivory Hair Parlors conducted by Miss Emilie Runzheimer, it was said the coming styles are rather plain, with the marcelle especially emphasized. Miss Runzheimer felt that although hair must be done up in the evening, the bob is here to stay, especially among the younger group of girls. To the women who must curl their hair every day, the permanent wave, which usually is guaranteed for several months, is recommended.

One of the most interesting things about the new hairdesses and one that is extremely noticeable, is the fact that "bigness" has gone out of style. Some time ago it was true that the larger a girl could make her hairdress, the more attractive it was.

COLORED WIGS

A new angle was thrown on this subject when Miss Runzheimer said that at the last hairdresser's convention in New York hair to match the gown was shown. This is nothing to get alarmed about, for it does not mean that women will dye their hair pink or green, but will wear wigs of different colors. Perhaps the day will come when stores similar to those of hat shops will be opened, and will sell "extra pieces" to match milady's gown.

One is forced to wonder if in the future women will be heard to say, "Oh yes, she got that hair two seasons ago when she got the plum-colored dress and since then she's worn nothing but plum-colored things." This style, however, is confined to evening and stage wear, and as yet no Appleton women have adopted the fad.

Start Mailing 1924 Licenses By End Of Week

Numbering of automobile license tags started on Saturday in the office of the secretary of state in Madison. About 25,000 applications have been received thus far, no numbers have been assigned.

Several thousand applications are received every day by the secretary of state and a large number of employes are assisting in handling the work. Actual distribution of numbers and license tags will begin the latter part of this week.

Automobile drivers must have 1924 licenses if they expect to drive after the first of the year. Application blanks for licenses may be obtained from the Automobile Editor of the Post-Crescent, either by calling in person or by accompanying the mail request with a self-addressed, stamped envelope large enough to hold the application blank. The automobile editor will be glad to indicate the license fee required if the name of the car, number of cylinders, number of passengers and type, whether touring, sedan, roadster or coupe, is indicated.

PAROLES ARE GRNATED TO 27 AT REFORMATORY

By Associated Press

Green Bay—Twenty-seven paroles were granted to inmates of the state reformatory by the state board of control meeting here recently. This number is unusually large and represents also a large percentage of paroles granted to applications, as forty-nine asked for the privilege.

PRACTICE BABY

Speaking of infant prodigies—here's Edna May Domecon to consider. Edna's five months old and is spending her first year at Cornell University. She's the "practice baby" of the Home Economics Department and is shown here in arms of her "practice mother," Miss Hortense Black of Genesee, N. Y.

TOO MUCH FAKING IN INDUSTRIAL MOVIES

So much misrepresentation has been abroad in the business of preparing industrial motion picture films that the vigilance department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has sent out bulletins calling attention to the concerns thus operating and the methods they use.

These warning communications have been received by the chamber of commerce here. They declare that irresponsible men are inducing manufacturers and merchants to have films prepared showing their establishments and embellishing them with local scenes.

The films themselves are worthy, it is pointed out, but these men claim they are associated with some of the biggest motion picture companies, which has been proved untrue with some of them.

FARMERS PREPARE FOR STATE MEETING

Farmers and agriculture leaders in the state are going to "step on the gas" February 4 to 9 to formulate a 1924 program.

Already plans are under way for the annual "Farmers' Week" which is held at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture K. L. Hatch, who acts as master of ceremonies for this session, is making up a program of nationally known speakers on timely farm subjects.

"Seeds and sires" will occupy the attention of the gathering on the first day of the week while the second day will be given over to "Safeguarding the product against doctoring agencies." On the third day "holding production costs at a minimum will hold the center of the stage. The development of necessary producing and selling organizations is slated for the fourth day and supplying the public both producers and consumers, with reliable information is billed for the wind up.

THREE STATES JOINING IN SECRETARIAL MEETING

Commercial organization secretaries of three states, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, will meet together this summer if plans of Hugh G. Corbett materialize.

Mr. Corbett is president of the Wisconsin Association of Commercial Secretaries and has appointed a committee which is to arrange this gathering for discussion of mutual problems. Don E. Mowry of Madison, is chairman of the committee and the other members are George Girling, Waupun, and R. W. Holcombe, La Crosse.

The Appleton secretary also has appointed two committees to make plans for the annual convention of the state secretaries at Stevens Point in June. C. F. Pratt of Sheboygan, is chairman of the program committee and will be assisted by R. A. Paulson of Kiel and A. C. Hedquist of Eau Claire.

HUNT VAMPIRE DRIVER IN RACINE ACCIDENT

Racine — Police are searching for the driver of a "vampire" automobile who struck two small children who are in a critical condition in a local hospital. The victims of the "vampire" driver are: Dorothy Lane, 8 years and her little sister, aged 2, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lane, of Thorave. The case is the second of its kind to come to the attention of the police in the past two weeks. The two little tots were alighting from a street car, when injured. The driver of the machine put on speed before he could be apprehended.

Splendid Cooperative Effort By Postal Force Prevented Congestion

Kaukauna—The annual Christmas rush in the local postoffice was handled with practically 100 per cent efficiency, according to Postmaster A. R. Mill. The entire force is composed of experienced employes who worked Sunday to clear up the excess mail and who showed splendid cooperation in keeping up with the rush, Mr. Mill said. There was a decided slump in the rush on Monday, which was not expected, so that by Tuesday morning the office was practically back to normal and the office was once more as randed as usual.

City carriers were the recipients of a number of gifts from patrons who appreciated the service. Although they received Tuesday afternoon off most of the mail was delivered and few if any patrons were required to wait until Wednesday morning for their letters.

On several days during the height of the rush warm lunches were provided by Postmaster Mill which helped to keep up the working spirit of the employes. The special delivery service also was well maintained. Letters and parcels bearing special delivery stamps were gathered directly from the pouches and in few cases were they in the office for more than 15 minutes. It was Mr. Mill's plan when he became postmaster to speed up the special delivery service.

Tubbs Family Reunites For Nuptial Party

Special to Post-Crescent

Seymour — A family reunion was held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Tubbs in celebration of their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. The day was spent informally.

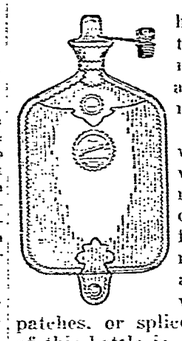

The children who were present were: Ralph, Gertrude and Bernice Tubbs and Mrs. Henry Roepcke, Seymour; Mrs. W. O. Knox, Kaukauna; Miss Iva Tubbs, Green Bay. The oldest son, Harry, died five years ago. There are also six grandchildren, two boys and girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs were married Dec. 25, 1888 at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tubbs by the Rev. Enoch Savage. They resided on a farm near Seymour with the exception of the last five years, when they have made their home in this city.

Mrs. Tubbs is a native of Seymour and Mr. Tubbs came to what was then a wooded country when he was two years old.

An interesting fact recalled by Mr. Tubbs is that at the time of their marriage 35 years ago the weather was mild just as it has been this year and farmers were plowing during the week preceding Christmas.

LODGES INVEST IN U. S. CERTIFICATES

Sale of United States treasury savings certificates at the Appleton postoffice has gathered new impetus since the increase in the rate of interest announced a month ago, according to Postmaster William H. Zuehlke.

The sale is featured by the demand for the certificates by various organizations, such as clubs and lodges. Rather than let their reserve funds lie idly in the club treasury, the organizations are putting the money in to treasury savings certificates so that it will draw interest. They have the privilege of withdrawing their money at any time without loss of interest.

Interest begins to accumulate from the date of purchase and is compounded twice a year. Each month the certificate has increased in value. The rate of interest if the certificates are left to mature is 4½ per cent. If they are redeemed before the date of maturity, it is 3¾ per cent. The certificates are issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 purchasable at $20 $80, and $800. They mature in five years.

MINISTERS ASKED TO PLEAD CAUSE OF GERMAN BABES

Contributions Expected To Pour Into Banks Of County Starting Jan. 2

Pastors of all churches in Outagamie-co are asked to make appeals from their pulpits next Sunday for funds for the relief of destitute children of Germany. The county campaign to help Wisconsin raise its quota opens Jan. 2, when contributions are to be made at the various banks.

No complete list of ministers of the county was available to the relief campaign committee composed of 50 people, and newspaper announcements therefore will be the only formal request for their aid in explaining to churchgoers the need which exists in Germany, and the plans in mind for this country's help.

It is expected that people will contribute liberally when the campaign opens, because of a condition in Germany which only the generosity of the American people can relieve. Thousands of children are actually starving because of inability to obtain food, and a multitude of others are so undernourished that disease is obtaining a hold and causing a high death rate. Tuberculosis has become prevalent to an alarming extent. The German government in the new republic is doing all it can to alleviate these conditions, but national affairs are in such a muddle and the ruling bodies changing so often that the progress is too slow to do much good to those in need.

Other Wisconsin cities which have begun their campaigns are raising funds by the thousands with which to discharge this humane duty to the innocent sufferers in Germany. Not a dollar contributed will be used for expenses in connection with the campaign or the distribution. All will be used for purchase of food in this country and for free shipment to Germany.

Banks are supplied with official receipts which they will issue to each person who contributes.

JOE JUSTICE, NOW RICH, AIDS NEEDY

Philosopher Of Bowery Remembers Pals Of Days When He Was Down And Out

New York — Thirty years ago a Russian Jew, anarchistic in his beliefs, without education or knowledge at odds with government that he could not understand, fleeing before the nightsticks of cops breaking up a "red" meeting—today, wealthy, educated by his own keen wits, a loyal citizen, a Christian, yet not a sectarian, extending a helping hand without discriminatoin as to race, color or creed—that is Joe Justice, friend of all the Bowery, where "Joe, the Jew" is greeted on every hand by all who pass.

"I was down and out myself," says Joe, "and in the days of my prosperity I haven't forgotten the pals of the old days.

"They are still my pals, my brothers. And I help them whenever I can. For money is only good as you do good with it.

"Not that I despise money. When money comes knocking at my door, I open it wide, and say: 'Welcome, home.' And then when it goes away again, I say 'God be with you, till we meet again.'

"But I want to do all I can to help my fellow humans. It is a part of my bargain. I agreed that if God would make a man of me, I would serve Him. He kept his part of the bargain. I will keep mine.

"I give the boys on the Bowery a feed now and then. I haven't forgotten what it is to be hungry.

From the gutter of the Bowery, Joe Justice has fought his way to comparative wealth.

After his conversion by the Salvation Army, he married a Lassie of the Army, and with money loaned to him by the Army, he went into the laundry business.

Days he hunted soiled linen. Nights he washed it. No Chinaman ever worked harder.

The struggle was a hard one. Gentiles wouldn't patronize him because he was a Jew. Jews wouldn't give him work because he had forsaken his faith.

But Joe persevered. Today he has all the work of practically every theater on Broadway. No stage doorkeeper stops him. They all know "Joe."

Justice has written more than 30 songs, which are used in religious services.

He also makes addresses from various church pupils, both in New York and other cities.

FAMILY RECOVERS FROM CRASH HURTS

By Associated Press

Manitowoc—Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Lorenz and their son Conrad who were injured when an automobile bus between this city and Sheboygan went into the ditch as result of a wheel breaking, are ready to leave the hospital here where they were brought for treatment. It was found that the injuries to the trio were not serious although first reports said that Lorenz had been scalped. Bad bruises and a shaking up were suffered when the three were thrown from their seats against another seat as the bus toppled into the ditch. The machine did not turn over.

New Split In Episcopal Church Circles Has Its Echo In Nearly All Denominations

New York—Is religion on the eve of a second Protestant Reformation?

Or is the row between the Modernists and Fundamentalists of the Episcopal Church a tempest in a tea pot that may soon be forgotten?

Millions of church-goers of all creeds are wondering, for it has been nearly 400 years since so clear-cut an issue has cropped up in an organized church.

When it did, it led to a revolt that split the Catholic Church and gave birth to Protestantism.

What will it bring about now?

NEW GROUP ARGUE

Where John Luther and John Calvin once stood as heads of the Modernist Movement of the sixteenth century, now stands a group of liberal preachers headed by the Rev. Drs. Leighton Parks, Percy Stickney Grant, William N. Guthrie and Bishop William Lawrence.

And foremost of the Fundamentalists, opposing the Modernists, stands Bishop William T. Manning of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York.

Between them has arisen a series of issues that bear a marked resemblance to the issues that brought on the first Protestant Reformation. They involve various interpretations of the Bible, and the prerogatives of higher church dignitaries to act as spokesmen in defining these interpretations.

These issues have been smoldering for a long time. But a sermon of the Rev. Lee W. Heaton, rector of a Fort Worth, Tex., church and the action of his Bishop charging him with heresy, has kindled them into a flame that is spreading across the whole country.

CHANGES BELIEF

In his preachment on "What Is Truth," Mr. Heaton said:

"There are those who cling with unquestioning minds to the doctrine of the Virgin birth as a statement of physical fact, while others who have been moved to analyze it have discovered in it new spiritual truths.

"There are those among us who believe that Jesus was in all things both God and man: the incarnation of God and the son of Joseph. This is my own opinion."

For expressing such views, charges of heresy were brought against Rev. Heaton, and he is now awaiting trial before an ecclesiastic court.

It was not the first time the Virgin birth doctrine had been flouted.

BOTTOM—BISHOP WILLIAM LAWRENCE, DR. PERCY STICKNEY GRANT AND REV. LEE H. HEATON.

The Rev. Walter Russell Bowie, rector of Grace Church of New York, has taken practically the same view as the Rev. Heaton. And Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts has been called the center of the Modernist group on account of his views.

The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant denounced the view many times. In a sermon last January he said that Jesus did not possess equal powers with God; that His miracles can be explained by science; that consecration of churches is a custom inherited from the age of witchcraft; that the clergy is a suppressed, chained profession, whose members speak their minds outside the pulpit, never in it.

Bishop Manning at that time served an ultimatum that Grant must recant, resign, and hinted at a trial for heresy. But Grant didn't resign or recant; and Bishop Manning never had him brought to trial for heresy.

SUPPORT HEATON

But when the charges against Heaton were actually brought, a storm of protest arose from the ranks of the Modernists. This gathered momentum when a "pastoral letter" was sent out by the House of Bishops, insisting on the belief in the bodily resurrection and the Virgin birth of Christ.

The storm broke when the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, for 20 years rector of St. Bartholomews, one of the richest and most conservative churches in New York, doffed his vestments, denounced the Virgin birth, and defied the bishops to bring him to trial for heresy.

Other liberals joined him in his denunciation. The Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's Church, one of the rock-ribbed institutions of New York for several generations, defied the Fundamentalists to proceed with the trial of Rev. Heaton.

Bishop Lawrence came down from Boston to take a hand in the controversy.

And the Rev. William N. Guthrie, who recently was hailed before Bishop Manning to explain some bare-foot dancing which he allowed in his church, St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, said that if Bishop Lawrence is tried for heresy "we'll all be tried with him.

OTHERS JOIN

The controversy in the Episcopal Church is having its reflexes in other religious circles.

Vigorous opposition is being developed in the Presbyterian Church against the adoption of five articles of faith demanded by its Fundamentalists who scored a victory over the Modernists at the General Assembly last May. Ministers all over the country are said to be preparing a protest against the assertion that these five articles are essentials of the church doctrine. These doctrines affirm: "that it is the essential doctrine of the church that the Holy Spirit inspired the writers of the Bible to keep from error; that Jesus Christ was born of the Virgin Mary; that He offered himself as a sacrifice to atone for the sins of His followers; that He arose from the dead with the same body in which He suffered, and that He showed His divine power by working miracles."

RUSS QUIZ RAISES HOPES OF BRITONS

British Investigators Confident Russia Will Pull Through Crisis

London— "The general impression we have brought back as to the recovery of Russia is one of hope," is the statement of F. L. Baldwin, a brother of the British prime minister and leader of a party of British business men who have just returned from an investigation of trading prospects in Russia.

"Recovery will be a long job," Mr. Baldwin continued, "unless the Russian government gets some outside help, but, if it cannot, I am still confident it can pull through unaided. It is working unaided now and the general economic conditions are not too bad.

"I gathered the peasant is fairly contented and, after all, he is the bulk of the population. As to the factory workers, they are all paid on a piece work basis and are working harder than they did before the war.

"Much hand labor has to be done owing to the country having been depleted of mechanical aids, both with regard to agricultural and factory work. On our way from Moscow to Petrograd we saw many men reaping with hand sickles.

"Undoubtedly there is a trade opening in Russia for agricultural machinery, and also for all things connected with transport, both railway and motor. The Russians are asking also for such things as sawmill plants and mining materials, while there is an abnormal demand for the ordinary necessities of life. The Russians, as a matter of fact, want about fifty times as much as they are getting."

LARCENY SUSPECT IS HELD IN JAIL

V. B. Janssen of Little Chute who was arrested by Appleton police on the charge of stealing approximately $218 from the Recreation Hall, College-ave billiard parlors, early this week, was arraigned in municipal court Wednesday afternoon. The date for his preliminary examination was adjourned by Judge A. M. Spencer to Jan. 2. Attorneys Rooney & Grogan of Appleton represent the defendant. Bail was fixed at $1,000, but the bonds had not been furnished Thursday noon.

KIMBERLY BANDIT OBTAINED $1,914

Kimberly State bank at Kimberly lost $1,914 when a gunman held up the cashier, I. C. Clark, in daylight on Dec. 14, according to the final checkup. The first estimate was $1,000.

The bank has been reimbursed for this amount through a check received from Travelers Insurance company, with which the bank was insured against robbery.

Escape of the bandit was effected by automobile and authorities have been unable to trace him.

Christmas Vacations

With the exception of George F. Werner, the entire staff of the Y. M. C. A. spent Christmas out of the city. They all reported again Wednesday and some of them were away not to exceed 24 hours. A. P. Jensen was at Chippewa Falls; J. E. Dennison was at Fond du Lac; Harold Dittmore went to Milwaukee; and C. L. Boynton visited Fort Wayne, Ind. While there he had an opportunity to hear Billy Sunday.

SHIOCTON MAN SOLD HARD LIQUOR; FINED

As a result of a Christmas raid conducted by a deputy sheriff at Shiocton on Christmas eve, Henry Krenn, Sr., proprietor of a soft drink parlor of that village, found himself under arrest for possession of illegal liquor for purposes of sale.

Krenn appeared in municipal court Thursday morning and, pleading guilty to the charges, was given the choice of a fine or imprisonment. Judge A. M. Spencer fixed the fine at $200 and costs with the alternative of two months in the county workhouse. Krenn chose the fine. Revocation of his license to sell non-intoxicating liquor follows automatically.

APPLETON WIRE WORKS INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK

Reorganization Changes Company's Name And Raises Capitalization

An increase in the capital stock of the Appleton Wire Works, now in process of reorganization, puts this company in the million dollar class. A new set of articles of incorporation of that company have been filed with Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, and recorded in the office of A. G. Koch, register of deeds. Under the new articles the name of the company is changed to Appleton Wire Works, Inc. The reorganization will be completed this week with a capital stock of $1,050,000. The nominal capitalization of $150,000 hitherto carried on the books has been raised up the value of the assets.

An amendment to the old articles of incorporation, changing the name to Appleton Wire Cloth company and increasing the capital stock, filed in the secretary's of state's office, was effected a temporary organization and was but a step in the reorganization.

The officers, as elected, are A. B. Weissenborn, president; Mrs. Josephine M. Buchanan, vice president; and G. E. Buchanan, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors includes the above-named officers and Mrs. Annette W. Purdy.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS MOTHER, MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

When I went home last night I found Leslie with a very high temperature. She was so feverish that I was frightened and wanted to send for the doctor.

She finally confided in me that she had received a letter from you in which you intimated she was to blame for any neglect I might have given you. I hate very much to say harsh things to my mother, but certainly since my marriage to Leslie, you have absolutely been a thorn in the flesh.

I cannot understand. Why, do you know, I had dreams before my marriage that possibly you would come and live with us, and now I know that you are the last person in the world whom I would ask to do such a thing.

Right here I want to say to you that I am not going to pay that bill for painting your house. That Bradford woman said you have plenty of money in the bank to do this. I don't care so much for the money part of it. It is very probable that, had you written to me in the right spirit and asked me about painting the house, I would have been very glad to give it to you. But the latter you wrote me had so many unkind insinuations about Leslie that I made up my mind then I should never do anything for you until you had come to your senses. Since then, of course, you have written me those terrible letters about the baby which have made matters much worse. I am trying to write this letter as calmly as possible; consequently it must sound rather stilted. What I want to say is this:

I have given orders that any letter coming to Leslie directed by your hand and having the postmark of your home upon it is not to be opened and Leslie has promised me she will burn it without unsealing it.

In my last letter to you I said that neither Leslie nor I would come into your house until we could bring the baby. Now I will go further and say that neither Leslie nor I will answer any communication from either you or that Bradford woman unless they are written in a decent manner showing some kindness for Leslie and respect for me.

I expect you will think this is a very hard letter and I will perhaps hurt you more when I tell you that it is not nearly as hard as it would be if I said plainly how I feel toward you. I never thought that my own mother would prove so narrow minded and so selfishly self-centered as you have been.

I should not write to you this way except that I know you have an income sufficient for all your simple wants and I sincerely advise you to make arrangements with that Bradford woman to live with you. You seem to be thoroughly in sympathy with each other and I think it would be a very happy arrangement.

Do not, I beg you, write to Leslie again. It will do you no good as she will never read the letter.

Your son,

JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

TOMORROW: "A cantankerous old mother-in-law" — Leslie isn't very happy.

Adventures Of The Twins

Friendly Enemies

"Baa!" said Snipper Sheep.
"Maa!" said Billy Goat.
"Baa!"
"Baa!"

"They're at it again ..." said Mister Dodger, looking over the fence into a field where Snipper Sheep and Billy Goat were quarreling.

"Hey there!" called Mister Dodger. "What's the matter?"

"He called me a moon-face," bleated Snipper Sheep.

"He called me a garbage can!" declared Billy Goat.

"Well, he eats just anything at all!" accused Snipper. "He ate a towel and a shirt sleeve off the clothes line today."

"I have to eat something," declared Billy Goat, disgustedly. "He pulls up all the grass by the roots when he eats and he's got the field ruined. Maa!"

"Baa!" replied Snipper.

"Come! Come!" said Mister Dodger. "Don't quarrel any more, you two. Here comes Farmer Brown with a man. If he catches you quarreling, he'll sell you both."

"Sell!" exclaimed the two fighters. "Who's going to be sold?"

"Nobody, I hope," answered Mister Dodger, wagging his head solemnly. "But we'll see. Come, Nancy! Come, Nick! It's time we were disappearing. We'll dodge behind these bushes."

Farmer Brown and his friend arrived a minute later and walked right up to Snipper Sheep. Farmer Brown held him by his horns while the stranger felt him all over.

"I'll give you fifteen dollars for him," he said. "He's good and fat and he has lots of wool on him."

"All right," said Farmer Brown. "I'll take it."

But suddenly something happened. Billy Goat had heard every word. And without warning he lowered his horns and made a rush at the stranger.

When Mister Man dazedly picked himself up a minute later he made a bee-line for the fence.

"Keep your sheep! I don't want him," he called angrily. "I wouldn't give you a lead nickel for him."

Farmer Brown patted Billy's fat back. "Good boy!" he chuckled. "You've taught me a lesson. I didn't want to sell Snipper at all!"

Mister Dodger nudged Nancy. "What did I tell you!" he whispered. They fight like sixty, but they stick up for each other every time."

"Baa!" bleated Snipper gratefully, looking at Billy with affectionate eyes.

"Maa!" replied Billy. "Don't mention it, old boy! Nothing at all!"

PIANIST BLIND FROM BIRTH

Pittsburg, Pa.—Anthony E. Jawelak was born blind. Yet today, at 26, he is considered a coming celebrity in the musical world.

JAWELAK

At 2, despite his affliction, Jawelak began fingering the keys of the piano at his parents' home. When 15 he gave public concerts.

All from the sense of feeling. And a keen sense of hearing.

Strike a metal in his hearing. Jawelak's senses are so keenly attuned that he can reproduce the exact sound made by the metal on the piano.

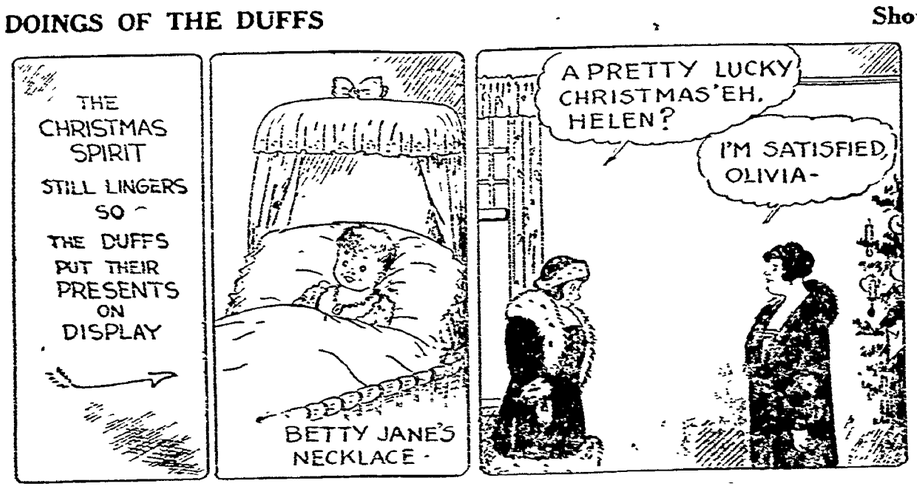

Jawelake studied from raised notes. He has progressed entirely by ear.

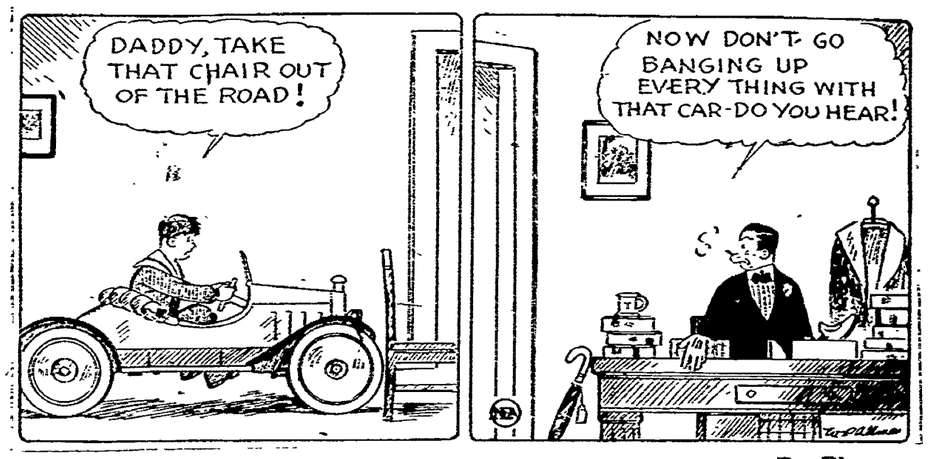

And he knows all the difficult classics, besides reams of other music, by heart!

Quarrel Is Tonic For Home Ills

Wife Who Declares Herself Gets Along Best With Husband, Says Author

New York—The family quarrel is an excellent institution so long as you don't overdo it, according to Henry K. Marks, physician, psychologist and author of "Undertow."

"You may depend upon it," he remarks, "the husband and wife who have it hot and heavy for a while and clear up the atmosphere are much more healthy physically than the couple who never have even a tiff and are always in accord.

"The woman who doesn't assert herself and take her husband in hand once in a while is really nothing more than a moron. Men never have given women anything, except what they wanted them to have, without a struggle And they never will. Men aren't built that way.

"This is true in the home as well as in political and social life. Women have to know what they want and then fight for it. If they don't develop a spine for themselves eventually they become colorless, vague, negative.

INDEPENDENCE WINS

"The clinging vine has never done anything for herself or for her race. And she is bound to find herself in time with nowhere to cling. Economic pressure, if nothing else, is forcing every individual to fight for himself, and those who can't will fall."

Likewise, Dr. Marks advises you not to be deceived by the over-solicitous, over-devoted wife. Instead of being prompted by real love, it may conceal actual hate.

"Many a woman realizes she hates her husband," the doctor continues. "She regards it as a shortcoming on her part and her first impulse is to conceal her discovery. So she tries to atone for what she believes is her guilt in not loving her husband by going to the other extreme and showing the most exaggerated solicitude for his welfare. But she is just as much of a neurotic as the woman who flies in hysteria."

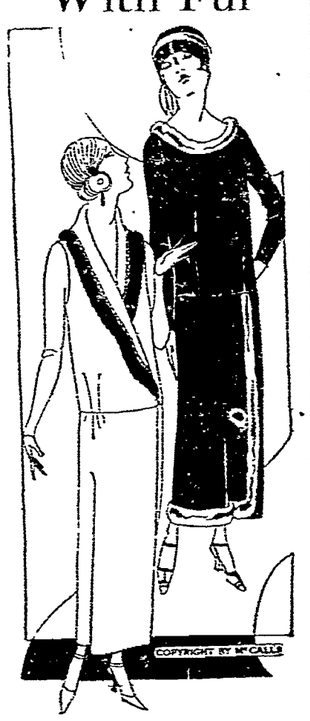

DON'T FOOL YOURSELF

If we could take a look into the psychical life of the Pollyannas about us we probably would find their omnipresent optism just another form of over-compensation, he says.

"Pollyannas conceal their fears and their honest doubts beneath an armor of forced gladness," he explains. "It isn't natural to smile all day and be cheerful when the cook leaves or the baby spills ink on the new rug any more than it is never to quarrel or lose your temper when your husband gets too unreasonable.

"So don't be afraid of a good spat now and then or a fit of the blues or any of those honest emotions that you may feel ashamed of afterwards. They indicate that you are normal and healthy-minded."

Simple Lines With Fur

Simple lines and fur trimmings are two rules for smart winter frocks The furs are all those with which we are familiar and dozens of new ones with odd names that never came out of a natural history book, but are meant to indicate, perhaps, rabbit fur in a new dye or wooly sheep in a novel curl. It doesn't matter. The fur is chosen to complement the dress and that it does most satisfactorily.

Sketched here are new models of winter frocks. Very simple, as you'll notice, with the simplicity that means Paris. They are styles adaptable both to silk and to wool fabrics and have slim straight lines so entirely becoming.

MAH-JONGG

BY J. P. BABCOCK

Leading Mah Jongg Authority and Author of Babcock's Red Book of Rules

NO. 4—WINNING MAH JONGG

The object in the game of Mah Jongg is two fold: to score as much as possible, and to win (or Mah Jongg) the hand. As you progress in the science of the game, you will discover that sometimes these two are inconsistent, and you will purposely fail to Mah Jongg when by so doing you can increase your score Those who have played bridge whist will see in this an analogy to the two-fold purpose of that game, i. e., to win rubbers, and to run up big honor scores. Sometimes in bridge, a player purposely loses "rubber" to fatten his honor score by doubling an opponent. So in Mah Jongg.

This playing to the score is some thing at which one becomes proficient by practice and familiarity with scoring values, and for the beginner it is well to play each hand to Mah Jongg if possible.

Which brings us to the question, What is Mah Jongg?

A Mah Jongg, or winning hand, is one which contains four sets of threes and a pair

DEFINITION

We will dispose of the pair first. A pair is composed of two dragons of the same color; two Winds of the same direction (that is, two South, two East, etc.), or two of the same denomination in the same suit (i. e., two Bamboo "threes," two Dot "fives" two character "nines," etc.)

The sets of threes may be either three of a-kind or three run-sequences. The three-of-a kind are composed of three dragons of the same color; three winds of the same direction; three of the same denomination in the same suit (that is three Bamboo "fours," three Dot "ones," three character "nines," etc.).

The three-run-sequences are three of the same suit next to each other in numerical value, such as a one, two, three; a two, three, four; a seven, eight, nine, etc.

NO FOUR RUNS

There is no such a thing in Mah Jongg as a four-run-sequence but it is possible to have four of a kind As it is necessary for you to understand the system of play before this can be explained, it will be treated in a later article.

In sorting your hand it is well for you to place together your sequences and threes-of-a kind, as otherwise you might inadvertently discard a tile from one or the other after play starts.

The expert Mah Jongg player will often deliberately break up a three-of-a kind or a three run-sequence in order to risk bettering his hand. But this is a risk which it is not well for the beginner to take. I would advise that, until you become thoroughly familiar with the game, you play each hand for Mah Jongg, and hold on to your sequences and threes of-a-kind.

HAS YOUR HOME A SAFETY MANAGER?

BY JAY E. THOMPSON
Assistant Manager Cleveland Safety Council

Each home should have a safety manager. Whether it be Little Johnny or Grandpa, someone in the family should be named to safeguard it from the little accidents that in 1922 killed more than 40,000 in American homes.

Cities and factories have safety managers, and thousands of lives are saved It is equally as important that each home should have a safety manager to make accident prevention his or her job.

Now is the time to select your new family manager, for during this month the Post-Crescent is publishing valuable information on home accident limitation, prepared by experts for the National Safety Council

Keep your home clear.

If you're clean, you're careful; if you're careful you're clean

Fires are accidents of the worst kind Often they start from piles of rubbish in corners or under stairways. Clean up!

When a fire occurs, use your head Getting excited neither puts out the fire nor helps you get away.

Keeping fires from starting is the best way to use your head.

Clean furnaces clean flues, clean stovepipes clean closets, clean corners, clean stairways and clean habits will protect your home from fire and many other dangers

How To Make Fur Coat Last Longer Time

Madison — "Fur wearing women should imitate fur bearing animals in care of their coats," declares Miss Hazel Manning of the home economics department of the University of Wisconsin. She says the life of a fur coat may be prolonged several years with proper care.

"An animal always shakes its fur vigorously after it has been out in the rain or snow—which is exactly what the woman should do who is wearing the animal's coat. The coat should then be hung on a padded hanger and allowed to dry slowly," she points out.

"Animals also are their own 'dry cleaners.' They use the simple and effective methods of rubbing sand thoroughly into their fur by rolling in it The owner of a fur coat may clean hers by thoroughly rubbing similar materials into it"

Hot bran, sand or cedar and mahogany saw-dust may be used for dark colored furs. White corn meal, salt, fuller's earth, cornstarch or powdered magnesia will clean white furs The material should be rubbed thoroughly into the fur It is removed by whipping with two pliable smooth sticks after which the fur is brushed with a clothes brush or furrier's comb

"A fur coat may be mended at home, but a furrier's needle should be used as it does not tear the skins as easily as a sewing needle. Mercerized cotton thread is good to use."

Household Suggestions

CLOGGED BURNERS

When cooking over a gas stove be careful that food does not boil over and stop up the holes of the burners. If this does happen the burner should be taken off and cleaned by boiling in a washing soda solution

BED SHEETS

In buying sheets be sure that you get them long and wide enough. A sheet should be at least two and three-quarters yards long, and three is even better.

Informal Dinners Flat Failure If Guests Are Not Chosen Carefully

There is no more delightful way of entertaining during the winter months than with informal dinners If you must cook and serve your dinner yourself, the weather is not so hot as to ruin your complexion during the performance and the nip in the air whets appetites.

In placing the guests at the table the clever hostess thinks well and carefully of the conversational powers of each guest. Distributing your good talkers among your good listeners.

In the first place the persons invited should be congenial and of similar tastes. This insures common interests of some sort and makes conversation easy and fluent. The best dinner in the world as to food will be a bore and a strain on the hostess if the guests are unable to do their share conversationally.

Hundreds ad

Husbands and wives, and even engaged couples, are separated in the seating.

WHOM TO SERVE

The honor guest is seated at the right of the host or hostess. This person is served first unless the dinner is large and two waitresses are in attendance Then the "head" waitress serves the hostess first and the assisting waitress goes first to the honor guest. The service continues to the right. The waitress serves on the left of the guest.

At the ordinary dinner where there are but a few guests the greatest stranger is served first to the various courses.

Whether you have a maid or not it is permissible to mix and serve the salad at the table. This is done by the hostess, the host attending to the carving of the roast and serving the vegetables If you must serve the dinner yourself the crispness of the salad is assured if it is mixed and served at the table.

The salad bowl should be filled with carefully washed and crisped lettuce and the "makings" of the salad. The dressing is ready in a separate bowl or, if French dressing is used, this is made at the table.

The dessert may also be served by the hostess at the table. A molded dessert usually adds to the beauty of the dinner if unmolded and garnished, with whipped cream and dried cherries, crystallized flowers or fruit.

BEFORE DESSERT

All unused silver, all plates and dishes, salt and pepper shakers are removed before the dessert is served. Bon-bons and salted nuts remain. The table should be crumbed with a folded napkin.

The centerpiece for the dinner table should be of flowers in a low arrangement. The view of persons opposite each other at the table should not be obstructed by a high bouquet.

Dinner napkins are usually about 24 inches square They are placed to the left of the forks

CORRECT POSITIONS

While butter is never served at the formal dinner, the informal dinner requires it and small pats of butter are placed on the bread and butter plate placed at the top of the forks. The butter spreader is laid across the right side of the plate.

The knives and spoons are placed at the right of the "cover," the silver needed for the first course at the extreme right. If oysters or a cocktail or canape requiring a fork is served, this fork is not placed with the dinner and salad fork at the left but on the right with the knives and spoons

The pieces are placed with the handles an inch from the edge of the table in a straight line, knives with the cutting edge toward the plate. More than three forks are never placed on the table and for the informal dinner of few courses this usually takes care of the dinner fork, salad fork and pastry fork. If more forks are needed they are placed with the course.

CANDLE LIGHT

Candle light is always kind to guests around a dinner table and adds a decided charm to the table The candles are used unshaded and are arranged in a square around the centerpiece. For a long table more than four may be necessary.

The water goblet is placed above the knives.

If individual salts and peppers are used they should be placed in the center above the plate.

Large salt shakers should be placed between every two covers, making reaching unnecessary.

Small dishes holding salted nuts or bon bons, olives or radishes are placed conveniently near the covers for passing.

Perfect neatness and immaculateness must prevail.

Nurse Gave Blood That Strange Man Might Live

MRS MARGERY HANS

Cincinnati, O. — She gave her blood that another might live Yet Mrs. Margery Hans, a former nurse, gladly would do it again "for humanity's sake.

A man lay at the point of death in General Hospital here. A transfusion operation was the only hope, surgeons said.

And he was a stranger in the city, without friends or relatives, upon whom the doctors could call for aid.

Mrs Hans read about it in the newspapers. She was the first to volunteer.

"A human being should not be permitted to die when he can be saved so easily," she declared when hospital attaches questioned her.

She submitted to the operation, then went home, expressing the hope that the stranger would benefit by her sacrifice.

And he did. He's on the road to recovery now.

POTATOES

As potatoes seem to be necessary to every man's dinner, no matter what other vegetables appear, a few "different" ways to serve them may appeal to the cook.

Potatoes are most wholesome when baked. The intense heat changes the starch to sugar to a certain extent, making them more easily assimilated by the body. There is an authority on foods and eating who tells us that "if a person wishes to do it, he can live in splendid health on baked potatoe, milk and water, indefinitely."

In many recipes using boiled potatoes baked potatoes can be substituted if desired.

Potato timbales are made with either baked of boiled potatoes.

POTATO TIMBALES

Four or five medium sized potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ tea spoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg yolk, left-over meat, chili sauce, curred tomatoes, parsley.

Bake or boil potatoes in their skins. When tender peel and rub through a potato ricer or a wire sieve. Melt butter in a sauce par Add potato, salt and pepper and egg yolk and cook and stir until hot and thoroughly mixed. Line some well-buttered custard cups with the mixture. The layer of potato should be about one-half inch thick. Chop meat. To one and one-quarter to one and one-half cups of chopped meat add two tablespoons chili sauce and enough strained tomato to make moist. Heat this mixture and use to fill potato cups. Put in a hot oven for 15 minutes to brown. Remove from molds and serve at once.

This dish provides the same nourishment as hash in a different form.

SAVORY POTATOES

One onion, 3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat, 1 teaspoon salt or less, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 cups diced potatoes, 3 cups boiling water, parsley.

The amount of salt used depends on the saltiness of the fat Melt butter or fat and add onion cut in thin slices Saute until tender and a very pale straw color. Add potatoes, boiling water, salt, paprika and pepper. Cover and boil until tender. The water should almost be evaporated when the potatoes are done. Sprinkle with minced parsley and serve very hot.

POTATOES VARIOUS

Two cups diced potatoes or small balls made with a vegetable cutter, 2 cups small onions, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, coarse buttered crumbs.

Boil onions in water to more than cover until nearly done. The sauce pan should be uncovered. Add one teaspoon salt and potatoes and cook until both are tender. Drain. Put vegetables in a well buttered baking dish and pour over white sauce made with the milk, butter, flour, salt and paprika. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake until brown in a hot oven.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind

ZWICK AND MEISSNER DOPED TO HAVE EVEN CHANCE

Kaukauna Sheik Will Meet New Type When He Fights Menominee Boy

Battlers In Main Go Of New Years Day Card Accustomed To Carrying Fight To Opponents

Valley fight fans are asking themselves a number of questions regarding the all star New Years day card at Armory G. Can Jack Zwick stand Archie Meissner's pace for ten rounds? Can he stand the bombardment of left jabs and right salvos the Menominee flash will rain on him? Will he be able to win from such a skilled fighter as the state champion claimant? Opinion is about evenly divided as to these queries, but all are agreed that the two boys who are scheduled for the main go are bound to put up a good scrap.

When Zwick fought Conley at Green Bay, the Sheik took the count and many thought he had reached the end of his rope. Then Patsy Callahan was engaged to look after Jack's interests, and it didn't take him long to find that his fighting charge had gone stale. Zwick had been spending his days in fighting and training and fighting again, without intermission. He had taken all the tough boys in his alley without an intermission, and no fighter can stand up under such an unrelieved strain for long. Patsy gave him a rest and when the Sheik met Conley again in a return march in Milwaukee, he beat his erstwhile conqueror to a finish. At all stages of the game he carried the fight to his rival, thereby winning beaucoup admiration and friends.

Tommy Neary stayed ten rounds with Zwick here, but that wasn't the Sheik's fault. Neary covered up like a turtle and fought about as well. He did the same thing when he met Pinkey Mitchell and thereby managed to stick out his ten rounds once more. Either Pinkey or Jack could have put him away if he had opened up.

MEISSNER LIKE LIGHTNING

But the "Hope of Kaukauna" will have an entirely different man to contend with next Tuesday. Meissner affects the Harry Greb style of fighting, but differs from Greb in that he has a knockout punch in either mitt. He is a scientific boxer and very fast. His chain-lightning left shoots in and before his opponent has a chance to recover, repeats, seldom failing to land. His is always in and out, jabbing and dancing away. He can feint and jab his opponent before he has a chance to think of covering up, hits from all angles and is always set. On the defense he has his own style of blocking. He is either way in or dancing about out of harm's way. His footwork is remarkable, and generally has the other boy guessing.

Seats are going fast. Reservations are coming in not only from all over the valley, but large numbers from Meissner's neck of the woods. Indications are that the house will be sold out before the afternoon of the fight.

Hill, writing from Springfield, Mo., says he is in the wrestling game for blood. He says he will wrestle any heavyweight picked for him—barring none—. "And I will wrestle him," George says.

Camp Slights Notre Dame's Grid Heroes

Notre Dame, for the second successive season, had one of the best teams on the gridiron in 1923. Through as tough a schedule as any eleven encountered, the Rockne lads knocked all opponents out one silly. The Nebraska jinx was still apparent. But as great a team as the lines flashed it was only able to place one man—Brown—on Camp's All-America selections. Not one of that great backfield quartet made the grade in Walter's opinion. All things considered, there seems to be something wrong somewhere. Either that or Notre Dame was simply a star team without any individual celebrities. But that hardly sounds plausible. Better put it down as one of the unsolved mysteries of the campaign.

LOSS OF MULDOON HURTS MITT SPORT

New York Legislature May Sound Death Knell Of Fight Game

By Associated Press

New York—Retirement of William Muldoon as chairman of the New York boxing commission, scheduled for Jan. 1, has turned national boxing interest to New York. For some unexplained reason the hunch has spread that boxing is in grave danger for its life in New York and that the sport will go or die as a result of Muldoon's retirement.

If the sport takes a punch on the nose from the legislature there are reasons to believe that it will never get another chance in New York, and if the sport passes out here it will weaken the game all over the country if it does not totally ruin it.

Muldoon's commission expires the first of the year, and he has made it known that he does not care for the reappointment. He wouldn't get it if he wanted to continue in office, not that he isn't deserving but because worth is a secondary factor when politics are concerned.

Muldoon has had a lot of fun poked at him. He made rules that caused the commission to be ridiculed. He ruled with an iron hand and a despotic heart, but he did a lot for the game.

APPLETON CUEISTS SECOND IN LEAGUE

Menasha Leads Valley Loop With Perfect Percentage For Three Games

Eugene Carr's team holds second place in the Fox River Valley pocket billiard league, with two games lost and one won. Menasha heads the loop with a clean slate, and according to early dope, these two combinations are due to stage a close race for the championship. Kaukauna and Little Chute are tied for third place, with Neenah trailing along at the tailend. However, the Neenah players showed considerable improvement in their last game, and promise to hold their own with the Dutchmen and the Electric City team after a few more contests.

Appleton defeated the Neenah team, 100 to 72, in the only contest played by them, and expects to repeat the performance here on Jan. 15, which is the date of the next fracas.

NEENAH CUE STARS DROP CONTEST HERE

LaFond and Merkle, representing Recreation hall, Wednesday night defeated Bunker and Rausch of Neenah 100 to 76, in a hard fought pocket billiard match here. The game was nearly even up to the end, when Merkle got away from a very difficult safety, breaking up the rack and running 26 balls. This was the high run of the game and gave Appleton the victory.

Thursday evening Drexler and Ertle meet Selig and Riegle in a tournament game of 100 points at Recreation hall. These men are all among Appleton's stars and should play a close and interesting game. The contest is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, and no admission will be charged.

WISCONSIN-DEPAUW TIE UNIQUE IN SPORT ANNALS

The other night Wisconsin and De Pauw basketball teams were tied at the end of the regulation period — at all. At the end of the first overtime session they were still deadlocked at 23. The second extra frame found them knotted at 25 and at the termination of the third over the period the score remained the same. Then they called quits for the evening. Extra innings on the ball field are quite common happenings, and now and then basketball teams go overtime to decide the winner but down through the pages of sport it is seldom that two quarters will battle into three extra sessions without one of the teams coming out ahead.

Comic Capers Pay Altrock Better Than Work On Mound

BY BILLY EVANS

Does it pay to be funny?

Or is it the best policy to take everything seriously?

They say left handers never are serious. Eddie Plank, famous pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, was a decided exception to that theory.

Baseball was a business with Plank. Winning ball games was almost a mathematical science with him. When he stepped on the rubber to start a ball game it was a mighty serious proposition.

Nick Altrock was the decided opposite of Plank. No matter how tense the situation, regardless of how thrilling the battle, Nick was always able to see a little humor in some phase of the setting, always able to smile.

PLANK WAS THRIFTY

Eddie Plank was thrifty. That was a natural result of his viewpoint of the game. It was a business with Plank, a precarious business which might be cut short at any time. A slight injury to the arm and overnight a pitcher drops from a big league star to minor league material. Plank intended to be fortified when the inevitable happened.

Eddie Plank quit baseball with a nice bank account to his credit. In social circles he would be considered well to do. He invested his savings in the automobile game and has a thriving business in his home town.

Easy come, easy go, was the motto Altrock followed during his days as a big league star. Money meant nothing in particular to Nick, other than the power it possessed to provide fun and amusement. When Altrock retired, the old left arm finally losing its cunning, Nick's bank roll was very light.

Well do I remember a comparison a well-known writer once drew of the prosperous Plank and the down-and-out Altrock. The moral of the story was that it was far better to take everything seriously rather than lean to the humorous side of life.

Perhaps the sermon preached by said writer is by far the best policy to follow, but the irrepressible Altrock has shot to pieces the theory that his light-heartedness his lack of seriousness proved his downfall.

TURNS THEORY AROUND

Altrock, the baseball comedian, is today drawing a bigger salary for clowning than he ever did as a star pitcher. His salary as jester to his majesty the baseball fan, is far greater than any the star pitchers of his day received.

Altrock has become an integral part of major league baseball. No world series would be complete without him and his partner, Al Schact, former big league pitcher. As a member of the Washington club he vies with the great Walter Johnson as a drawing card.

Now Altrock has broadened his field by taking up basketball. Nick doesn't play the strenuous game, but simply puts over the pantomime of the ball field on the basketball floor. Nick being original has added some new stunts that have a basketball flavor.

Altrock has proved that a man can be a success without ever having a serious moment. With Nick, life is just one laugh after another, a round of pleasure.

APPLETON ACES BEAT KEWAUNEE

Holzer's Quint Humbles Home Team, 25 to 21, In Overtime Contest

Leslie Holzer's Appleton Aces Wednesday night humbled the Kewaunee quint, 25 to 21, in an overtime contest at Kewaunee. At the end of the first half the Aces were outpointed 14 to 8, and it looked bad for them. Apparently the Kewaunees had it all over the invaders, and in the second half they redoubled their efforts in an attempt to pile up a further lead. However, Holzer's gang staged a little revival of its own, and when the whistle sounded at the end of the second period, the Aces had evened the score, 21 to 21.

In the whirlwind finish which followed, the Kewaunees were unable to score against the awakened Aces, who twice dropped the leather through the ring and took the game by four points.

Millerg, Kessler, Fahlstrom, Donald and Hallas turned the trick for Holzer.

FOUR BIG TOP TEAMS ON PAR IN DEFENSE

According to the official averages, four American League teams were just about on an equal footing defensively. The quartet comprised Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington. The Tigers and White Sox each allowed 741 runs during the season while Cleveland permitted 746 and the Naturals 747. The Yanks were low with 622.

Y. M. C. A. PLANNING FOR OPEN HOUSE NEW YEARS DAY

While most of the club activities at the Y. M. C. A. have been suspended during the holidays, the time of the employed staff is occupied with planning for the open house to be held New Years afternoon.

The details of the program have not been worked out, but the athletic department and the boys department will be the principal participants.

Former years the open house occupied both the afternoon and evening, but this year it will be confined to the afternoon exclusively.

Wife Of Cue Champ Wins Row For Son

By Associated Press

New York—Mrs. William Hoppe, wife of the world's professional billiard champion, and her four year old son, William Jr., are united Thursday after a separation of a month, during which time the boy was in the custody of his father.

Mrs. Hoppe Wednesday started suit to recover custody of her son, and after supreme court justice Burr had issued a writ of habeas corpus requiring Hoppe to produce the boy in court, the cue star returned William Jr. to Mrs. Hoppe, who then withdrew the suit.

Ring Game Attracts Sports Of All Lands

BY JOE WILLIAMS

THE prize fighting urge is cosmopolitan. No one nationality has a monopoly on the ambition to swing a mighty left, or duck a vicious right. Pancho Villa, for instance, came from the Philippines to win the flyweight title. Jack Dempsey is Irish, Benny Leonard Jewish, Harry Greb German and Firpo is a South American.

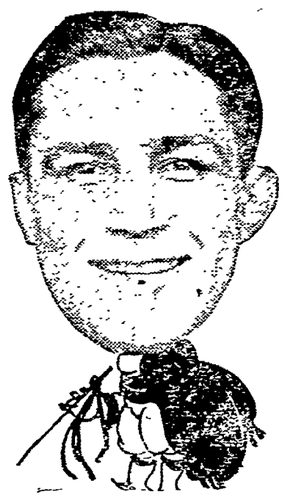

You find few Mexicans, and fewer Spaniards in the fighting game. A Spaniard who is making impressive gestures in the ring today is Ernie Goozeman, a 122-pounder, who fights under the colors of Larry Lichtenstein of Chicago. Goozeman, christened Miquel de Ghuzmann, was born of Spanish parents who immigrated to California from the romantic city of Seville some years ago.

Goozeman has twice won the bantamweight championship of Australia, and has beaten many of the tough ones in his class in this country. One of his noteworthy performances was a knockout victory over Joe Sangor, featherweight pride of Milwaukee. Sangor had just won from Sammy Mandell and was very much in the fistic spotlight when Goozeman came along and smacked him to sleep in the first round.

It isn't likely that Goozeman will ever win the title; he is a slam-bang gent who swings from all angles and with great fury. But being a Spaniard he is at least a novelty.

Joe Rivers, lightweight of note some years back, was always called a Mexican, yet he was mostly Spanish. Probably the greatest Spanish fighter ever known to the ring was Daniel Mendoza, a real old-timer who was a part of the early ring history in England. Mendoza fought at 160 pounds. Aurelio Herrera, lightweight, was the greatest Mexican the ring ever saw. Much better than Rivers, the Spanish-Mexican Benny Chavez, bantamweight, another Mexican, was just a fair battler.

Joe Azevedo, lightweight, was one of the few Portuguese to attain distinction in the ring. George Chipulonis better known as Chip, was the only

ERNIE GOOZEMAN

Tetewanian ever to win a title. Chip won the middleweight championship only to lose it to Al McCoy, an unknown, in a round. Knockout Brown of Chicago and Theo Antonpoulos (Al on the Greek) were two Greeks who picked up more than one stray purse in the ring. Rudy Unholtz, a light weight, was born at Mannheim on the Rhine.

John Gutenko—you knew him as Kid Williams—came from Copenhagen, Denmark, to win the bantam weight title. Young Griffo and Bob Fitzsimmons, two of the immortals were Australians. Joe Walcott, probably the greatest 145 pounder that ever lived, came from Barbadoes, West Indies.

Italian, French and English fighters have been numerous. But Spaniards and Mexicans in the ring have been rarities.

It will be interesting to see how far young Mr. Goozeman goes, or comes, as the direction may be.

BETTER MARKERS FOR STATE ROADS

The motto of the Wisconsin Highway commission, "Serve the Traffic," has developed a decision to change the highway markings from telephone and telegraph poles to a position close to the path of vehicles. This change is to bring the sign where it can be seen at all times. The old signs were easily missed in some cases, particularly at night, and even when the sign was observable the numbers were not easily read. A supporting staff will be provided, surmounted by the triangular sign, bearing the number of the highway and letters to indicate that the road is a part of the state trunkline system. The design will differ from the present marking in that the numbers of the road will be larger and will stand out more emphatically on the white background.

The signs will be placed as close to the vehicle as practicable, to be the more easily observed and read by moving traffic. The expectation is that some signs may be knocked down in the course of a season, but the serving of the traffic is the main consideration.

Navy, Boston, Vermont On 1924 Grid Schedule Of "Golden Avalanche"

Hilltoppers Face One Of Hardest Programs In Years; Contest With Middies Offers Big Chance

Milwaukee—Now that the Marquette university "Golden Avalanche" is on the football map of the continent, Hilltop partisans are looking to next season, firm in the belief that Coach Frank J. Murray's eleven will further intrench itself in the ranks of the gridiron elite.

William L. Coffey, chairman of the Marquette athletic board, as yet is unable to announce the complete Marquette football schedule for 1924 but his preliminary announcements made public the fact that next season the Hilltoppers will face the heaviest program ever tackled by the Blue and Gold. Three intersectional games have been scheduled and, in addition, some of the strongest middlewestern aggregations will be taken on.

Marquette's greatest chance comes on Oct. 11, 1924, at Annapolis when Coach Murray will send his aggregation against the United States Navy academy, the first battle of the intersectional trio. On Nov. 8, the Hilltoppers will appear at Braves field in Boston, where they meet Boston college for the second consecutive year. North Dakota university will be met and defeated in Milwaukee, Nov. 15, while the University of Vermont will provide the opposition on Thanksgiving day. An informal no-score tilt with Lombard at Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 27, is the fifth engagement announced by Mr. Coffey.

Since Coach Murray took hold of the reins at Marquette at the beginning of the 1922 season, the Blue and Gold has not met defeat on the gridiron. Last season the victims included Campion, Carroll, Chanute Field, Creighton, Haskell Indians, University of Detroit, North Dakota, and South Dakota university. This season even greater triumphs were added with Ripon, St. Mary, Carroll, Boston College, University of Detroit, South Dakota State, North Dakota and the University of Vermont as the defeated opponents. Whether or not this streak will continue remains to be seen but Marquette fans are confident that Coach Murray will have another strong team in the field against Navy and the other high and mighty aggregations that will be met.

Prospects are excellent. Three of the nineteen men awarded letters this year will be lost—"Dukes" Ducord, fullback; Earl Kennedy, center; and Mike Bentzin, guard. All are hard places to fill but the reserve material is reported to be strong. La-Vern Dilweg, Marquette's all-western end; John Fahay, the St. Paul flash and Dick Flaherty, the latter of Spokane, will be the wingmen. Francis (Moco) Lane, Keno Dorsey and Jerry Lunz are returning for the tackle positions and Peter (Carpo) Cartwright will be one guard. Joe (Red) Dunn, the mighty; Don Curtin and Bob Demoling are emblem men who will have the call for quarter, while Homsen, Leichtuss and Skemp are halves.

Billy Evans Says

DOES an All-America football team mean anything? Years ago Walter Camp conceived the idea of picking such a football team. It was original and novel, and while the critics often disagreed with Mr. Camp, still do, yet his selections were anxiously looked forward to after the close of the season. At one time Mr. Camp's selections were largely made up of Yale, Harvard and Princeton stars. In those days the critics used to take a shot at the Yale expert when he overlooked some player who stood out on an eleven not one of the "Big Three."

Of late years there has been a decided change in the football world. The "Big Three" is no longer supreme. The west and the south now vie with the east for football supremacy.

* * *

OUT of Walter Camp's original idea, an All America team, have come thousands of such teams. Every fall hundreds of All-America teams are selected. They are, of course the expert opinion of the writer making the selection, who no doubt believes he is as well qualified and has just as much right to pick an All-America eleven as Walter Camp. For years I have been interested in Camp's All-America selections. His teams haven't always met with my entire approval, but on the whole his selections have been excellent, and it was his idea, this All America stunt, that gave his team a certain privilege possessed by no other.

Only the other day I read the All-America's selections of a writer who candidly admitted in his article that he hadn't seen a single football game of even minor importance. He picked a team no doubt just to be in style.

* * *

IT is questionable if the All America stunt as now pulled is worth while. Certainly the idea has lost its individuality and originality. It is now common property that is often rudely treated. It is beyond me how anyone who hadn't seen a football game of importance would take a whirl at an All-America selection. In this connection I might say that a majority of sport writers view the selection of an All-America team as an impossibility. They simply say it can't be done by one man with any degree of correctness.

Recently I sent out a questionnaire to about two hundred sporting editors asking them for information relative to a football honor roll, and also asked them to pick two All-America teams for me, a first and second.

* * *

WHILE every writer very gladly gave me the dope on his section of the country, a majority passed up the All-America idea on the ground that they were not competent to render an opinion on so broad a subject. For that reason I have in the future decided to pass up that feature and simply request the sport editors to give me the names of men from their section whom they consider of All-America rating. While Mr. Camp's idea has its flaws, it's too bad he couldn't have it copyrighted. At present the All-America idea is more or less of a joke.

ACCIDENTS CLAIM MANY LIVES AMONG ITINERANT FLYERS

Unlicensed Flying Causes Most Air Accidents, Government Report Shows

By Associated Press

New York—The causes for the airplane accidents of 1922, and recommendations for the reduction of future accidents to a minimum, are found in the annual report of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America to the Secretary of Commerce. The Chamber says the government must provide jurisdiction over all civil flying if casualties are to be reduced. The report indicates that most of the 1922 accidents were due to the itinerant pilot who has no fixed base, is unlicensed and unregulated by law, and therefore has no presumptive responsibility.

"Of approximately 1,200 civilian airplanes in operation in the United States in 1922," says the report, "between 550 and 600 were owned among 130 established operators, that is, individuals and organizations with fixed bases and conservative business policies; an equal number were distributed among itinerant pilots who have no particular system and depend for a living upon stunting barnstorming tours and extra hazardous assignments.

"In 1922, there were 122 accidents among the itinerant pilots, or gypsies, and only 12 among the fixed base operators. These accidents resulted in 62 fatalities among the gypsies and only seven among the fixed base operators. One hundred persons were injured through accidents with so-called gypsy planes and only seven were hurt in planes operated from fixed bases.

"The 130 established operators, having definite financial responsibility, fields, repair shops in a majority of cases, and a system of inspection for their craft, demonstrated a degree of dependability unexcelled by older and officially regulated mediums of transportation. They incurred only 12 accidents in 1922 as against 24 accidents in 1921. And many of these could have been avoided had there been in effect federal laws licensing operators.

"In startling contrast is the record of the gypsies. They have consistently replaced their damaged equipment with the obsolete surplus from government stores remaining from war production and available at prices so cheap that youths with often a few hundred dollars may, and invariably do, acquire airplanes which they alter to accommodate one or two paying passengers. The passengers are led to ride in these machines through ignorance of safety factors controlling flight, and the public generally seems to accept all aircraft as airworthy, no pausing to reflect that here is the only vehicle of importance which the operators are not compelled by law to make and operate in a manner calculated to safeguard the public.

"From 500 to 600 of these gypsy craft have wandered from town to town for at least two years. According to the most complete accounts obtainable in 1921 there were 114 accidents involving itinerant fliers. In 1922 there were 126 accidents, an increase of twelve. In 1921 the accidents resulted in 49 fatalities and 89 persons injured, in 1922, 62 fatalities and 100 persons injured, an increase of 13 deaths, or more than 26 per cent, and 11 injured, or more than 12 per cent.

"Among the gypsy fliers 37 accidents were due to lack of inspection of their equipment. Government licensing and other regulations would have prevented this. Poor piloting caused 46 accidents, stunting caused 32 accidents, also preventable by federal regulations. 11 were caused by carelessness on fields and 17 were from unknown causes. 14 to lack of landing fields, nine to lack of weather data, nine to lack of route data, in which the pilots became lost and were driven off their course.

"In other words, 30 per cent of the accidents among the itinerants, and they had the vast majority of accidents, were caused by stunting, and 29 per cent to faulty inspection of aircraft. This seems to afford sufficient evidence that federal regulations, providing primarily for the licensing of pilots as to competency, the prohibition of dangerous flying and for the certification of equipment as to airworthiness, will operate to correct abuses in aviation, and make flying safer."

ONE SUCCEEDS IN 40 YEARS, OTHER MAKES IT IN FOUR

R. E. M. Cowie And Benjamin Jacobsen Rise To Prominence From Meager Start

New York—Busy New York pauses to pay homage to two men who began careers at scratch and fought to success.

It took one four years—the other 40.

They are entirely different types, and their paths to fame and fortune are widely divergent.

On the day that Robert E. M. Cowie, 69, was announced as the new president of the American Railways Express Company, a seat costing $82,000 in the New York Stock Exchange was purchased for Benjamin Jacobson, 32.

And on that same day, an unknown—to whom success did not come—leaped into the murky waters of East River. He got no plaudits.

Cowie, who was born in Scotland, went to work as an office boy for the American Express Company in Cleveland 49 years ago.

"Dig," he said, "is the way to success."

He is dignified in appearance, radiates solidity, is methodical and confident in word and action and possesses a sense of humor. His rise has been constant, though slow—a man who conquered one thing at a time. His position, built on a strong foundation, is stable. Cowie has been married to the same girl "nearly 40 years."

Jacobsen, came to bustling New York from Courland, Latvia, early in life, left school at 14 and went to work as a page in the New York Stock Exchange. For seven years he went to night school.

Four years ago he was employed by the 45 year-old firm of Harris & Fuller, brokers, as telephone clerk on the floor of the exchange.

His salary was $25 a week—now his income is $25,000 a year.

Jacobsen's expensive seat in the exchange is the goal of men who have given years of their life to Wall Street. On the first of the year he becomes a junior member of the firm he joined only four years ago.

"Ambition, application and aggressiveness is my only code," he said. "Clock workers get no place—you've got to keep everlastingly on the job."

Jacobsen is action personified. Personality and confidence bubbles forth in his everlasting smile. There is nerve and fight in the set of his jaw and quick, sure judgment in the sparkle of his brown eyes. He uses two telephones at one time.

He is married, has been for seven years and is the father of two children, a boy and a girl.

"He's a mighty fine boy," said Andrew Vogt, one of the members of the firm. Benny is an example for young men to follow. It shows what boys in America can do if they have ambition."

"Mr. Jacobsen must be a remarkable young man," said Cowie when he was told of the young broker's rapid rise.

"I'd like to meet that chap," beamed Jacobsen when he was told of Cowie's advancement.

Possibly they will meet and trade incidents of their unusual careers.

PLANS PYRAMID TO HOUSE RECORDS OF "DOOMED" ERA

Arkansas Man Sees Failure For Civilization—Imitates Egyptian King

dim, and distant and yet to come.

Monte ne, Ark.—This is a drama. It deals with the future and aeons.

For want of a better name we'll call it "EUREKA," meaning "I've found it," after the Greeks. And now for the cast, elements, et cetera, on which let your imagination run riot as pleases, to wit:

TIME: Ten thousand years from now, or in other words, 11,923 A. D.

PLACE: A pyramid right here, built in 1923 by one W. H. "Coin" Harvey, to house the treasures of his age and explain the reason for its downfall.

DRAMATIC PERSONAE: Variegated mortals of the time who've just dug through the last strata of rock uncovering thesaurus.

As the scene opens, the welkin is resounding to the strange creatures' cries. And what a queer looking lot they are!

Evolution, it seems, has made them "all head" from generations of concentrated study. All nature is at their command and they've unleashed the secret of atomic energy.

One particularly lean looking individual, an archaeologist, with ears like sails, and diminutive features, has just arrived on his molecular-driven airship, which travels 1600 miles an hour.

His toothless mouth—for no solid food is then eaten, since nourishment is derived by extraction from the atmosphere through mechanical means—is wreathed in smiles.

Talking to another mortal, he says: "So this is the corrupts of the Yankee civilization. What ho, brother! Have you seen this box of Sheba arrive, for it is labeled thus, which we have just taken from the outer chamber?"

Mortal: "Indeed! And what do you make of the reference in this human's work, which has to do with destruction of his time, by miscarriage of the money system, paralyzing the life blood of the body politic?"

Archaeologist: "It is indeed perplexing. This race of Americans was once powerful. And do you know, from what is written here in the pyramid, it is proven, in support of our learned men's theories, that they had some inkling of aviation and could send messages through the air."

Mortal: "Yes! So it seems they did. But their methods were quite crude and mere playthings compared with what we have now. And see, they speak of love! Whatever that could be, I know not.

"Much ado they made of their Shebas and flappers. While we, who have no such things, are fortunate indeed never to have lived then, for their lives were petty and surrounded by strange ambitions to gather power and gold."

Admittedly, this is a farfetched projection of the imagination, but may become a reality, if W. H. "Coin" Harvey of this place goes through with his plans to erect a pyramid in the Ozark Mountains near here, as a monument, to house the works of our civilization, which he thinks is doomed.

Plans for the structure now under way call for a pile, costing $25,000, to be built on a surveyed foundation of solid mountain rock, believed capable of defying all earthquake disturbances.

At the base it will measure 16 square feet and will be 120 feet high. Three chambers will be built within the shaft, housing in vacuum-sealed bottles, a complete record of our time, to tell inhabitants of this earth in 11,923, why the present civilization failed.

On top the pyramid will be placed a copper plate, bearing the following inscription:

When this can be read, go below and find the cause of the death of a former civilization.

Similar plates will be placed on the exterior wall of each of the three rooms built, one over the other, except that the word "below," will be changed to "go within." There will be four plates altogether.

Harvey, in his present role of a Tutankhamen, is the same "Coin" Harvey who created considerable stir in the politics of the day, by his advocacy of the "free silver" idea.

"Money lending is the root of all evil, in that it ties up most of the world's gold and causes stagnation in the blood of the body politic, just as an obstruction in the blood stream would bring harm to the body," Harvey says.

This evil, he forecasts, will bring about the end of the present civilization such as we know it.

And it is to record the progress which has been made that he plans to start work on his publicity inscribed pyramid, believing that the end is near.

SOME COP!

More than a thousand arrests—1032 to be exact—from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31! But it's all in a year's work for C. F. Frum, Youngstown, O., police lieutenant for the Erie railroad. No wonder the crooks all call him "Terror" Frum. They fear him like the plague.

M'READY WARNED NOT TO TRY FLIGHT FOR NEW ALTITUDE

Aviator Laughs At Admonitions —Feels Sure He Can Set New Record

Dayton, O. — "God does not wish you to make this flight."

"He surely will punish you if you attempt it.

"You will fly so high you will keep on going, never to walk upon this earth again."

Pleasant thoughts, indeed for Lieutenant John A. Macready, intrepid flyer from McCook field here, to ponder over way up in the clouds, as he, all alone, soars higher and higher into uncharted realms, fully aware that a single unwise move spells certain death.

Gobs of unsolicited advice like this are coming to the ace of American army flyers, as he prepares for the big job ahead—the breaking of all existing altitude records.

LAUGHS OFF FANATICS

But Macready laughs at them. And at the warnings from "scientific sources," too. Nothing can deter him from his purpose.

"Just the work of fanatics," he says.

Yet he admits there is plenty of danger ahead and above.

"You have to guard against cold, lack of oxygen and lack of pressure," he tells us. "The last is the worst of all. It becomes noticeable after passing the 30,000-foot mark.

"It slows up all the body's movements. On my last trip (referring to his 34,000 foot flight) I wanted to look at the tachometer. Believe me, it took some time to make up my mind to do it.

COLD NUMBS BRAIN

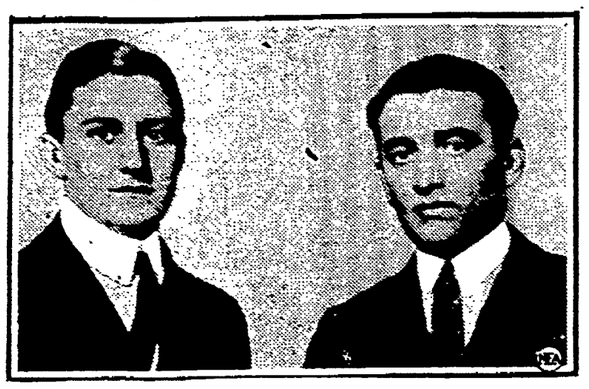

"It probably was 40 seconds before I discovered I was gazing at the air speed indicator. It takes quite a while for a bit of intelligence to seep through your brain, under conditions like that.

"Past 30,000 feet the air pressure is 14.7 pounds a square inch. By the time you get up to 40,000, the scientists figure it simmers down to 2.9 pounds. Maybe, I can find out definitely whether they're right on that point.

"At high levels you think clearly but slowly. When I reached the absolute ceiling I floated around for four or five minutes trying to decide how I was going to get down again.

"Getting down below the 30,000-foot level, the normal use of the senses returns. But a feeling of utter fatigue and exhaustion creeps over one. It takes a day to get back to normalcy again."

Mistaken Identity Made Man Serve For Another

New York—Only a mistaken identity.

Yet it cost George D. Pteriotis three years of his life; three years spent wearing a felon's dress at Atlanta, Ga. It cost him his sweetheart, his money, and—hardest blow of all—his father, who died of brooding over his son's disgrace.

In 1920, Pteriotis, successful young Greek importer doing business in New York, sold his business to Joseph Sakelos, and departed to London, there to establish himself anew.

Sakelos is alleged to have raised bills of lading in order to defraud banks. Sakelos disappeared. Pteriotis returned from England upon hearing of the trouble. He was promptly arrested.

Brought to trial, he denied all knowledge of the fraud. But the authorities claimed that Pteriotis was Sakelos; that Sakelos was merely a dummy personage to permit Pteriotis to escape suspicion. Two witnesses identified Pteriotis as Sakelos. Police refused to hunt for Sakelos. They already had him, identified as such. Pteriotis was convicted.

Released Oct. 31, 1923, after serving his time, Pteriotis set out to find Sagelos in order to clear his name. Locating him in San Francisco, he lured him to Chicago, where he had him arrested. Chicago police refused to hold him as New York police wired that they did not want him—that their man had been convicted and served his time.

But Pteriotis with his attorney, Bernard Sandler, brought Sakelos to New York to make public confession to the crimes so that the name of Pteriotis might be cleared.

WOULD VACCINATE DOGS

The Medical Association of the Fourth District of South Carolina has recommended to the state General Assembly that all dogs be vaccinated against rabies. Rabies, the disease which "maddens" dogs, has been steadily increasing in the state for ten years and the doctors feel that something drastic should be done, so have recommended inoculation of all dogs as the first step. Muzzling has proved not only unpopular but ineffective, they point out. The vaccine perfected will cure beast or human if administered within a few hours after infection, they say.

HIRED GIRL IS ALMOST EXTINCT

The "hired girl," or the maid of all work, as an institution, is almost extinct. The pay for house work has risen about 250 per cent in ten years, according to labor study statistics, but the trouble results from there being little or no raw material to draw from. Specialists have replaced the maid of all work and the inexperienced girl who formerly would hire out to a family is now drawn to the factory and office or to the school for domestic science, from which she emerges a skilled cook, nurse or dietitian.

FOOTBALL CRAZE SWEEPS GERMANY

Heidelberg, Germany—Many buildings in Germany which prior to 1914 were used for making implements of war, ammunition or devoted to turning out supplies for the army, are now manufacturing sporting articles for the various games which are more popular today than at any other time in Germany's history. The craze for out door sports has reached proportions never dreamed of in pre-war days.

Football, formerly considered by Germans as being too rough, has become one of the most popular games among school boys and college men. Every small town now has its athletic union, including a football team, and meets are held regularly all summer and most of the winter. The passion for out door sports has even invaded the country districts, and the youngsters of the peasant village much prefer hand ball or foot racing to helping their parents in the fields.

The sport rage is attributed to the campaign launched in 1919 for the amusement of the thousands of young men who in former times spent years in Germany's big army. Today the newspapers devote pages and sections exclusively for sports, and there are many sporting journals in Berlin and other cities. Tennis is played extensively, but football has made such rapid strides that even the experts cannot account for its growing popularity, and the factories are working overtime endeavoring to supply the unprecedented demand for "pigskins."

FARMER GETS LIFE TERM FOR SLAYING

By Associated Press

Elkhorn—Adolph Eckman, Darien farmer, was late Wednesday sentenced to a life imprisonment term at Waupun by Judge E. B. Belden in Walworth-co circuit court here for the fatal shooting of Carl Fritz, his neighbor, last July. Eckman was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury on Oct. 23. His attorney then filed a motion for a new trial, which was denied by Judge Belden. Fritz was shot to death at Eckman's home in a quarrel said to have arisen over a shotgun which Fritz claimed had been stolen from him.
